

Networking and Educational Opportunities for Marine Fuel Suppliers

As the United States and other governments pave the way toward electronic fuel procurement in the maritime industry, several upcoming conferences and presentations will offer bunker fuel suppliers insight into how they can conduct business with worldwide government militaries more efficiently.

The Defense Energy Support Center will host their Worldwide Energy Conference in National Harbor, Maryland beginning Monday, May 10. If you are in the area, you may be interested in the Defense Energy Support Center's in-depth review of the SEA Card® program from 9:00a.m. – 10:15a.m. on Wednesday, May 12. Multi Service representatives will be on-hand during the presentation to answer your questions.

Additionally, we hope that you will join us for a discussion of the evolving marine procurement process. Jim Knickerbocker, senior customer service manager will discuss improvements in fraud prevention, credit management and cash-to-payment cycles resulting from e-procurement technology from 3:30p.m. – 4:45p.m. on Wednesday, May 12. Representatives from Multi Service will be available during the presentation to answer your questions. You are also welcome to visit our new exhibition booth.

You are invited to join us as officials from the United States Government discuss supplier relationships and U.S. military fuel procurement during Maritime Week Americas in Miami, Florida, May 17-21. Multi Service representatives will be available to answer your questions regarding SEA Card® and other Multi Service Marine programs. Come and see us at our SEA Card® booth.

In July, Louis Glass, business development manager will host a discussion on securing and fulfilling government business. Please join him in Ghana at the Oil & Shipping Africa Conference if you are in the area.
